Ken shouldn't be operating on the PRN during business hours. He should've also stated:

"I'm sorry, but I cannot discuss or arrange business on the PRN." PERIOD. No phone numbers. No trolling looking for customers. What a dicklock.

Right, which is where GARY is getting confused.

Ken (a Moto Dealer) has a pecuniary interest in selling radios. OMs in velcro shoes having a swap net on the repeater don't have a pecuniary interest in selling radios.

Gus, the 75 year old ARES whacker selling a used HT to somebody over the air is a different matter than Ken, the Motorola dealer selling several HTs over the air.

In any case all of this is moot, because the PRN guys don't want Ken using their system. So he should GTFO.

Thanks

MOST of us don't believe in socialism, and we DO respect PRIVATE PROPERTY RIGHTS. Sorry, the PRN is now a CLOSED SYSTEM, as far as Ken- go play somewhere else and think about your actions.

And I know the owner of Arcom controllers, who also is a ham and has a pretty good repeater system in the Portland area to show off all the bells and whistles of his controllers to hams, if you ask him for help on his products, he tells you to call him at work to discuss it. However, I want to say he can provide free support to people over ham radio to a certain extent, but I could be wrong.

Even in Socialism, you have private property....its Soviet Communism you have possession without ownership....

Gary, your characterization of Ken's & mine relationship is entirely inaccurate and clearly tainted by the rose colored glasses with which you view your "friend."

In my opinion, Ken Bryant is a liar. He lies when he says he makes no money on ham radio sales. He lies when he says he never engaged in transmissions on ham radio frequencies in which he had a pecuniary interest. He lies when he says this lawsuit magically goes away by NCPN simply restoring his access to their network. (this is a lie you have regurgitated yourself, by the way, and the premise comes with strings attached that are unbearable to the NCPN sysadmins that you conveniently neglect to mention)

He lied when he said NCPN was his only access to the DMR-MARC network. He lied when he says his "ham radio business" operates at a loss. He lies when he implies he has been a Motorola dealer for 30 years. I don't know if there's much that comes out of his mouth that's actually truthful, except maybe when you ask him what time it is or whether or not the sky is blue.

He lied to me personally, continually and repeatedly about the nature of our prior business relationship, when he was buying radios for his "ham radio club" and then one day he slips while trying to chisel me down on at-cost pricing, and tells me he is reselling the radios to commercial & public safety customers and needs a better price so he can make more money. This is just the type of person he is.

To be clear: I do not view Ken as my mortal enemy. I do however view him a shitstain on the ham radio hobby, evidently I am not the only one who harbors this view; although I do appreciate your insight & wisdom into how he feels about me.

That all being said, I have come across the knowledge that despite the very, very generous contributions via GoFundMe and other means, the NCPN guys have had to reach into their pocket to the tune of about $5000 so far defending this bullshit lawsuit, and it's clear that Ken's litigious nature will ensure further future legal bills as he tries to bleed the defendants dry and turn this into a war of attrition instead of a dispute about facts.

I've donated another $750 to their campaign and encourage all who oppose Ken's cancerous lawsuit to do the same.

Seems to me we went through this in the 1990's with the 145.220MHz CLARA repeater out in California, and one T. W. Seawolf, KJ5KE. FCC & courts held up that CLARA could decide who did and did not use the repeater, as it was (and I believe still is) listed as PRIVATE. Judge Rottencrotch should look at this particular case.

What a tool

"Opened box", "new old stock", "Customer returns", "at cost", "below cost", "loosing money", "not making any money", etc

Regardless of who it is and what they are selling, anyone who says these things in most industries needs to understand that all of these claims can often be easily and independently verified, making you look dumb and dishonest if you weren't telling the truth.

Others who have dealt with the individual in this thread would know more and have their own opinions.

Some of these things might not even be end of the world, bad, evil, or deceptive, but it still says a lot about who you are and how you operate. And that is important.

I think this whole lawsuit is really a shame, litigiousness is the last thing we need more of in the USA.

Immediately take the system offline. Dissolve the existing "club".

Start a new club which is CLOSED and use RAS. Gets rid of the shitstain. If he attempts to harass those who run the repeaters, make a criminal complaint against him for criminal harassment and stalking.

I have heard nothing in months and am no longer updating the GoFundMe campaign. I don't feel comfortable in pressing for donations in the vacuum. While the defense may have good reason for "radio silence", it doesn't send us any warm fuzzies. But saying that, this mess that K1DMR brought upon NC-PRN has huge (NEGATIVE) ramifications for the ham repeater community if Ken prevails in this POS lawsuit.

Doesn't change my opinion about one of the parties one bit but I'll abide by the request by NCPRN not to discuss further.

Hopefully the GoFundMe was useful to pay for ridiculous defense attorney's fees.

The parties ask the community not to discuss this matter further.

"Hey Internet, stop Internetting!"

Sue and squack and and litigate and squack and post and squack, then ask the "community" not to chat about it? Please. Tell me, where is Bryant's crow-eating post? The one where he publicly admits he could have handled things better? The one where he expresses his regret over the damage done to the "community"?

Spare me. Eat a bag of dicks. AES and RAS FTW.

I spoke to Ken on the phone an hour ago. He couldn't say much because both parties have a gag order. But the NCPRN did have to publish that Ken DOES have access to the system. So you won't find a crow-eating post from Ken. I'm still waiting to read where NCPRN admits THEY could have handled it better. GARY
