How ever you want to justify it. Those shitty dollar store radios have been around for a while. Too bad he did not get out of BMR before dragging NCPRN owners through a court case for nothing.

Glad that clown is getting out DMR. Ham DMR will be better with out him.

On that note, hopefully he will not be allowed to connect to P25NX...

Not to mention selling all those Georgia hamsters DMR radios they thought they would be able to use in downtown Atlanta.

Guess his sales velocity was slowing down so now he's got to evangelize another mode and find another bunch of suckers.

Clown.

It's the lids with the $100 radios which he did not sell that helped him decide to not put the DMR repeater back up. How many here complain about the Dollar Store radios? I'm sure there are plenty of other DMR repeaters in Atlanta people can use. We have many here in South Florida. Life goes on. GARY

I'll take a lid with a $100 radio over a lid with a $100 lawyer any day.

And thanks to that Douche Nozzle, the holidays are just that more difficult for those having to defend themselves. This whole thing has nothing to do with dollar store radios anyway.

There is just no defense for what that turd did Gary, but I applaud you for giving it a try here. Makes for a laugh or two.....

He has been a friend since 1995. Now if he had been found guilty of molesting a kid, or holding up a 7-11, that would be a different story. Like I said, the NCPRN decided to make their lawyers rich. They could have stopped the bleeding months ago by restoring access. In the end, that's what still happened, but it cost them. THEY cut off their nose to spite their face. Many times in the criminal system, people take a plea even though they are innocent, to cut their losses. They rolled the dice, & lost. GARY

Who went to the lawyers first, Gary? That's who could have prevented this in the beginning. There would have been no bleeding to stop. It is the quintessential example of frivolous litigation.

And that's the second time you've used the child molestation 7-11 analogy. What that really says is that your standards for friendship are pretty low. There are many bad traits in the realm between a child molester and a stand-up, reputable person.

Ken's actions are indefensible, full stop. The community at large seems to agree. Your continued support of him and, more importantly, your continued tasteless use of child molester analogies is beyond the pale at the very least.

Thanks

Still a frivolous lawsuit from someone acting like a child. The NC PRN revoked his access and that should've been the end of it. No legal action was taken against Ken therefore he had no right to due process but instead chose to use his connections to make the PRN his bitch by abusing the legal system. That's a *tard of a man right there.

Now the lawyers for the PRN did error by not bringing the suit and ruling of the state that it is their jurisdiction and not the FCC to the attention of the FCC...but oh well.

I'm glad you see my point. They started the ball rolling by banning him for no reason. I work for the largest FFL in Florida, & many times people ask me what a Glock 19 costs. I tell them to call me on the phone to discuss it. That's what Ken did, & they banned him. I NEVER mention the name of the FFL on the air, so there is no conflict of interest. You guys remind me of the people who will not accept the fact that Trump won the election. GARY

You fail to get that a repeater owner can ban you at any time for any reason as long as it is not for reasons protected by law (sexual orientation, religion, race ect.) They banned him and he acted like a bitch about it. HE went to a lawyer first. HE went down that road first rather than being a man about it and finding somewhere else to play.

He was the *tard that acted like a bitch and went to a scumbag lawyer. * Gary you are dense.

Guys, the conversation/debate/flaming can continue, but no personal attacks or name-calling is permitted. i.e. "Gary is dense". Not cool.

Thank you for complying with rules from this point forward. And no, Gary didn't complain -- this is a preemptive action.

HE is still banned from all the repeaters I control or have access to. I just don't like that kind of attitude, and until someone else pays for my repeaters, he is done.

The barrier to entry with P25NX is significantly higher than it is with MARC, especially with the introduction of Version 2. It is not just plug-and-play. You need at least a tenuous grasp on Cisco and Linux configuration, as well as basic networking and routing to put a Quantar on P25NX. I would LOVE to see the reception he gets when/if he shows up here or on the Google group asking for help.

That said, I feel very confident that he will not be permitted to connect to P25NX.

Gary you puzzle me.

Did you watch the video from the FCC Lawyer? The FCC see's the operation of an Amateur Radio repeater as "your repeater, your rules". I don't need a reason to ban someone from one of my repeaters, the Part 97 rules say I can do it. The lawsuit was not about the fact that he was banned, it was based on the idea that he was denied "due process". If I can ban anyone for any reason, there isn't any due process. All the rest of this is static.

Very simple - their repeaters, their rules - no process, period.

Damn. I am too as are several other folks on here. Hopefully, my posts have been most of 180 degrees opposite of his to better represent Florida's more balanced thinking.

Then of course, there's "Commiefornia" you live in as he so eloquently put in a much earlier post.

The crux of the case was about "denying someone access to the internet". Nothing to do with the FCC. GARY

In the US, the FCC still has jurisdiction over the internet (even though I can guarantee you that DMR wasn't Ken's only access to the internet). The internet is also a service...just like telephone, cable TV...if there is no contract or terms of service then the providers can cut you off for whatever reason they feel.

That's what all the talk is about. Go back and read the complaint.

By the way, as of two years ago the FCC has jurisdiction over the internet. (in the United States)
